

Dr. Yan delivers the message the world is waiting.

Dr. Yan has extensive clinical and research data to support her claims, she communicated with more than 300 first responders early in the pandemic. These data are unparalleled since CCP later censored every bit of information and the doctors and researchers are all under the gag order.

Dr. Yan's strong claims are cross-checked by the media and intelligence agencies. Her claims are detailed, comprehensive and inter-linked, based on scientific facts and agree with common sense.

She claimed that the virus was deliberately released by the CCP. You might wonder why, but all cold facts lead to this horrific conclusion. "Whatever remains, however improbable, must be the truth".

CCP owns dozens of similar labs for coronavirus research, both military and civilian ones, and they can construct these deadly viruses within 6 months. If CCP is not brought to justice, the nightmare will last long.

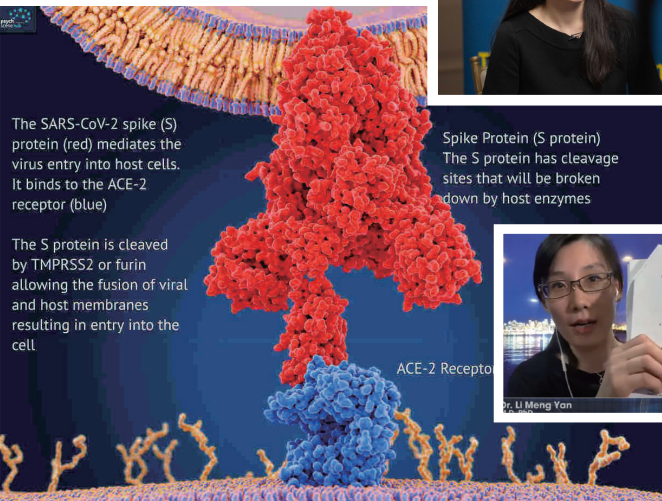

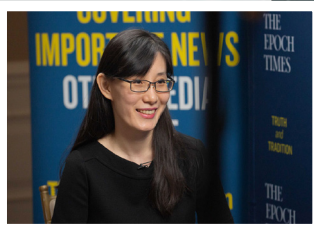

There is no cure for Covid-19, but hydroxychloroquine is an effective drug to prevent more death in proper use.

Dr. Yan sacrifices all, to tell the truth.

THE

OF THE VIRUS

Dr. Yan as a front-line researcher of SARS-CoV-2

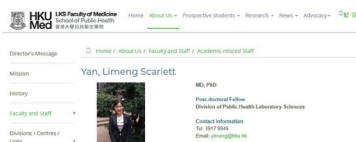

Dr. Yan received her M.D in ophthalmology in mainland China and later gained her Ph.D. in immunology at Leo Poon's Lab in Hongkong University, one of the top-notch research institute for influenza vaccine and coronavirus research.

She is an acclaimed experimental virologist, a rising star in academia. As the major contributor, she published several papers in well-renowned journals mBio, Nature, and Lancet consecutively this year.

She was assigned to investigate SARS-CoV-2 early in December last year. With her strong connections to first-line doctors and CDC staff in mainland China, she knew the severe outcome of Covid-19 from the very beginning.

She also conducted research to set up the appropriate animal model for coronavirus, which is key to future vaccine development.

She is the not only the witness who can testify about Chinese government's coverup of the pandemic, but also an insider researcher who knows the true origin of the coronavirus: a lab-originated virus, engineered with a bat virus backbone which is solely owned by the military lab directly under the control of the communist party.

Dr. Yan and the WHO reference lab

The lab Dr. Yan worked in is a WHO H5 reference lab, which is responsible for the surveillance and response of influenza-like viruses (coronavirus included) outbreak. This lab is also the only WHO collaborating center for infectious disease epidemiology and control in the world.

The lab co-directors Leo Poon and Malik Peiris are prominent experts for coronavirus research, known for their work on SARS coronavirus in 2003, and regarded as the “absolute pioneers in the diagnostics of coronavirus”.

Dr. Yan reported her results with tremendous evidence to her lab director Prof. Leo Poon, a listed WHO consultant. But shockingly, this report was suppressed and Dr. Yan was warned not to disclose her findings. Inexplicably, the WHO experts took side with the CCP and betrayed the public, when an imminent danger was clear.

During a recent interview, Dr. Yan presented this written report to the public, in which she mentioned the undisputed human-to-human transmission with solid scientific evidence on how the virus binds to human ACE2 with aid of structural analysis of the virus protein. All of these facts were known to the WHO early in January, but inaccessible to the public.

Dr. Yan's testimony on the true origin of the virus

The backbone of SARS-CoV-2 is the “Zhoushan bat virus” (GeneBank: AVP78033.1, with identical envelope protein), owned by the military lab of the Chinese communist party (Prof. Changjun Wang).

What makes the virus so dangerous are two oddities:

- 1) its recombinant “receptor binding domain” binds very strongly to the human cell,
- 2) this binding is enhanced with a unique furin cleavage site.

Chinese coronavirus scientists like “bat woman” Shi Zhengli conduct such “gain of function” research for a long time, they can weaponize the coronaviruses like playing toys.

The “nature origin” theory relies on a virus called “RaTG13”, which is highly suspicious. The authenticity of RaTG13 is questioned by more and more experts. (Matt Ridley, “Was RaTG13 sequence assembled from other sources... Very low in bacterial sequences, high in different bat species sequences. Transparency please, WIV.”)
